

D'Millen

The “mill of Beckerich” is composed of three separate buildings dating back to the 18th and 19th century and has been fully restored. It harmoniously combines historical heritage and modern equipment in a beautifully green setting.

The first building is the former barn which nowadays houses the restaurant “andermillen” and three fully equipped multi-purpose rooms.

The largest room “Scheier”, with a properly restored wooden barn roof, is equipped with modern concert and conference technology as well as a bar. It is perfectly suited for conferences, lectures and concerts up to 120 people and for banquets and receptions up to 180 people.

The second building is the former watermill and houses a shop selling local products, an exhibition area as well as multi-purpose rooms for cultural activities.

Finally, the old sawmill has been restored to working condition and demonstrations are frequently organized.
